Elba man reported missing

Local Elba businessman and entrepreneur Pete Cash has been missing since early Monday morning, July 28.

His teenage son saw Mr. Cash leaving the family residence just after 7 a.m. Monday.

Mr. Cash is described as 5 ft 10 inches tall, weighing 195 pounds, with brown hair and blue eyes. He is 47-years-old.

Two eyewitness reports located him just south of Elba on Alabama Highway 189 around 7:30 a.m. and headed east on Alabama Highway 84 through downtown Elba a couple of hours later.

Two Elba citizens who know Mr. Cash well are positive they saw him driving in downtown Elba around 9:30 a.m. Monday. Each has assured Elba police they were close enough to be positive about their identification.

Cash was wearing a green golf shirt and khaki slacks and driving his personal automobile, a silver over silver (or tan) 2007 Chevrolet Tahoe with an Auburn Tigers tag on the front with the wording "Tigers Unlimited" and Alabama Vanity License Plate AU 85 AZL, which is also an Auburn University tag.

A missing persons report was filed late Monday evening, and the case is currently under investigation by both Elba and Troy authorities. The family has made an urgent plea with the public to provide any information about Mr. Cash's whereabouts to the Elba Police Department immediately (334-897-2555).

Wife Mary Cash said late Tuesday, "We are grateful for the prayers and concerns that have been expressed and ask the community to help us locate Pete and bring him home to his family and friends."

FIRE DESTROYS MOBILE HOME. Members of the Elba Volunteer Fire Department responded Thursday evening, July 24, to the scene of a mobile home fire on West Street in Elba. Upon arriving, they found the home fully engulfed in flames. The firefighters worked quickly to bring the blaze under control, but they were unable to save the structure. Fortunately though, no injuries were reported from the fire. The cause of this fire reportedly is being investigated by the Elba Police Department and Fire Marshal's office as arson is considered to be a possibility. On Saturday morning, July 26, the Elba Fire Department was again dispatched to the scene to assist the fire marshal in the investigation. While the incident remains under investigation, no charges had been filed as of press time this week.

During Coffee County Commission meeting

Commissioners discuss budgets with sheriff

by Linda Hodge, Editor

After working through their meeting agenda Monday morning, July 28, Coffee County Commissioners recessed their regular bimonthly meeting until the afternoon when they gathered to discuss the sheriff's proposed budget(s) for Fiscal Year 2009.

Upon reopening the meeting, Commission chairman Tom Grimsley said the purpose of the afternoon session was to look at the sheriff's department budget.

"Last year's budget (Fiscal Year 2008) was mighty fair," said Sheriff Dave Sutton as he began his remarks. "I have no complaints about it."

That being said, he did remind commissioners that fuel prices soared during the year, and he attributed the increase in fuel prices to be a major factor in the department having a projected coverage with the current budget.

Sutton said the projected coverage for the current budget (FY2008) is approximately $68,000.

While the sheriff said the major cause of the projected coverage is fuel prices, there are other causes for it as well including a bill owed to Williams Signs of Elba in the amount of $8,070.30. Sutton said this bill includes the cost for lights and striping on the new patrol units purchased this year. He said this cost was an oversight in the current budget and mistakenly left out.

"We need to look at getting these people paid," Sutton said. While the sheriff's department budget has a projected coverage of approximately $68,000, Sutton said the jail budget also has a projected coverage of approximately $1,700 in the current budget. Again, he attributed this mostly to fuel prices.

"A few months ago, the county administrator asked us to curtail spending, and we did at that time," Sutton said.

He said a majority of the curtailment came in training and travel. He added that he wanted to look at the current budget because it has an impact on the new budget.

With that said, the focus of the meeting shifted to talks regarding the sheriff's proposed

AN UNUSUAL WRECK took place Wednesday afternoon, July 23, at the intersection of Hickman Avenue and Highway 203 (bypass) in Elba. According to the accident report filed at the Elba Police Department, John Wayne Wilkerson, Kinston, Ala., was driving a log truck when he apparently was attempting to make a left turn onto Hwy. 203. He reportedly swung wide in order to make the turn, and one of the logs he was carrying shifted and struck the trailer of another diesel truck, driven by Dudley Toy of Los Angeles, Calif., that was traveling straight through the intersection. As shown in the photos above and to the left, the log came off the log truck and went completely through the trailer being pulled by Toy. The accident report also indicated the log truck had no flags on the rear of the load.

During Elba City Council meeting

Mayor James Grimes certifies two councilmen for another term in office

by Ferrin Cox, Publisher

Monday night the Elba City Council certified both Ronnie Hammond and Harold Spicer for a new term on the council. Both men had qualified to run for another term and were unopposed when qualifying ended July 15th.

Alabama law does not allow for write-in votes in municipal elections when the lone candidate is unopposed and their name cannot appear on the ballot. Therefore certifying Spicer for the District 4 seat and Hammond for the District 5 seat was in order.

City Clerk Wayne Grantham reported to the council that two trash trucks continue to collect trash from residential sections of town. He noted the recent strong winds downed more trees and/or limbs, pushing the clean-up effort further behind, but he felt they are again making progress.

Grass cutting on municipal property has also fallen behind due to equipment failure. However, this problem has been resolved and positive progress should be noticed in most areas of town, the clerk said.

He again cautioned motorists to be careful in the downtown area as the sidewalk construction continues.

Police Chief Freddy Hanchey cited a recent crime statistics report that pictures Elba law enforcement in a good light. The report on 2007 reported crimes shows Elba with 23% lower crime rate than 27 comparable population cities in Alabama.

Elba had no homicides in 2007; the lone reported rape case was solved, compared to an average of 36% statewide. Elba had five reported robberies and solved 60%, compared to a

BRAINSTORMS
With Ferrin Cox

Our hearts go out to the Pete Cash family and we hope our readers join us by extending a helping hand where ever they can. Those of us who have no idea what to do can pause to say a prayer for him, his family and close friends. Do it now.

There was a buzz of questions some months ago when Congressman Terry Everett announced his plans to retire in January 2009, at the end of this term in the U. S. Congress. We were asked by mutual friends "Why?" However we were asking the same question and did get a chance to pose it to our longtime friend and fellow newspaper publisher Terry Everett. He cited several things, including health issues, but the one that stuck with us most was that it was no longer fun in Washington. Now we read he is considering a race for the Alabama governor's office. None of us "regular folks" will know just how serious this idea is until he either does it or says he isn't going to run. The fact it is in the news now is either because someone is floating the beans on a confidential movement or else someone is floating a trial balloon on his behalf. Take your pick . . . we choose the trial balloon theory.

Well Washington ignored our opinion . . . again. Last week we were spinning over the proposed bailout of Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac. During the weekend the bailout proposal became fact. In fairness, we read more about the pros and cons of the spending and now are not quite as hardnose in opposition. They spent gobs of money to give many of us some $600 apiece (more or less according to a complicated formula) so $25 billion to prevent a disaster in the banking industry isn't so bad. That is when we consider the spillover impact a banking disaster would have on industry, retail business and ultimately on each family in America. Having said that, we hope someone who should be in control of such regulations will see that the home mortgage folks are never again allowed to create such a financial mess as the country is facing in the housing industry today. It hurts us all . . . except maybe some who were on the inside, saw it coming, grabbed their money (or loot) and ran away from the pending crash.

It appears BamaJam will return to Coffee County next year. It is still shocking to us to hear the huge financial numbers associated with the weekend long country music event. Knowing first hand how long it took to earn one dollar when cotton pickers were paid 3¢ a pound, we still get bogged down in merchandise volume which generates a quarter of a million dollars in sales tax revenue! Remember that is in only four days! The only sensible thing to say about another year of BamaJam is "bring it on brother, bring it on!"

Back-to-school sales tax holiday could not happen at a better time

Guest Editorial by Representative Terry Spicer

The heat of July lets everyone know we are in the heart of summer. For most families, and certainly for the kids, fall seems a long way away. But the start of school is really just around the corner.

We start school pretty early now in Alabama. Most school systems schedule the beginning of classes by the second week in August, some even earlier. Already parents are looking at back-to-school shopping, taking stock of clothes and shoes to see if they fit, and looking at whether the backpack and lunchbox can survive another year. There is also a list of items now required by schools, from binders to computer flash drives that can store thousands of files but attach to a key chain.

Back-to-school can be a heavy hit to a family's finances, especially in these times of high gas prices. Every dollar counts, and there is something that every parent and citizen should take advantage of in a couple of weeks to lessen the strain on the household budget.

On August 1 through August 3, Alabama will hold its third annual sales tax holiday. The Friday to Sunday period will give Alabama shoppers the opportunity to save the state sales tax on a whole host of items for back-to-school. The Alabama general sales tax of four percent will be suspended for those days, and a majority of local and county governments are participating in the tax holiday as well. Families can save up to ten percent in sales tax on their back-to-school purchases.

A family outfitting their children and spending $500 (not an outrageous sum these days) will save up to $50, depending on where they live. The suspension of the sales tax is not on every consumer item. Every article of clothing under $100 is exempt, including shoes, pants, shirts, coats and school uniforms, even diapers for the little ones are exempt during the holiday. All school supplies that are $50 or less are exempt from sales taxes. Supplies from calculators and crayons, to pencils and pens, including books are exempt as long as they are under $30.

Computers are the one big ticket item that will be exempt during the holiday. A single purchase with a sales price of $750 or less will not be charged the tax. Software, printers, even handheld devices that are not cellular phones (sorry, kids) are exempt. The classroom is changing, and technology purchases are becoming as commonplace as buying spiral-bound notebooks.

The back-to-school sales tax holiday was passed by the Legislature in April 2006, and it has been a popular measure the past two years. It couldn't come at a better time as family budgets being squeezed like they are now.

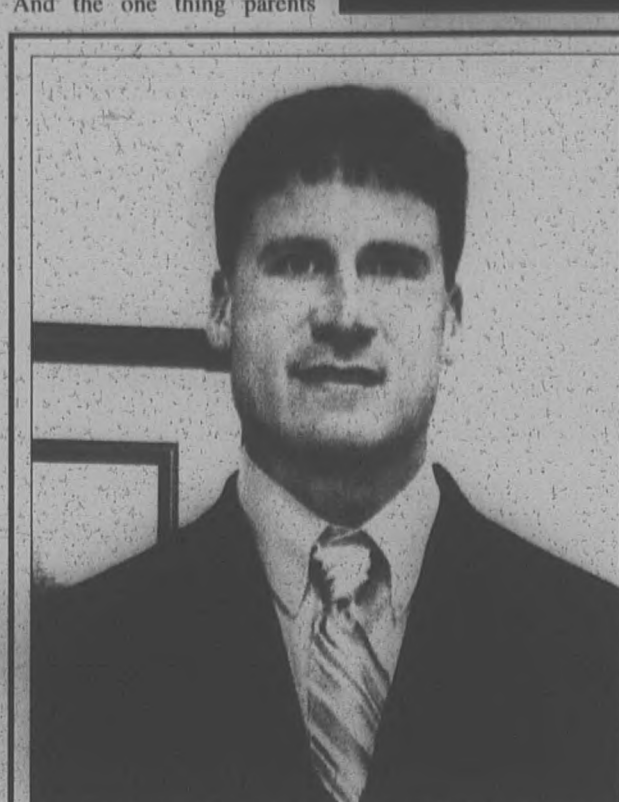

Some folks always ask why we can't have a sales tax holiday forever and just abolish these taxes outright. All state sales taxes are earmarked for education, every penny the state collects from the sales tax goes to fund classrooms and support our colleges and universities. The tax holiday makes only a small hit on school revenue, while it really helps families. Yet if we permanently cut sales taxes, our schools suffer. Our children will suffer.

But for a few days at the beginning of August the main thing children will suffer will be trying on what seems to be countless pairs of pants and shirts, standing by their parents as they go through aisle after aisle of back-to-school items. And the one thing parents won't have to suffer is paying an extra eight to ten percent on everything their children need to start the year off right.

To see if your county or town is participating in the sales tax holiday, go online to <http://www.alabamastatesalestax/holiday.htm>, or call the Alabama Department of Revenue at 334-242-1490 or 866-576-6531.

Addison & Braedon Goethe
celebrated 2nd birthday on May 10

Addison and Braedon Goethe, twins of Leslie and Jeremy Goethe celebrated their 2nd birthday on May 10 with a party at their home in Atlanta, Georgia.

The dining room served as the focal point for the party and the table was cleverly adorned with an assortment of garden tools, ladybugs, dragonflies and other creepy crawlies. The cake served as the centerpiece and resembled and upright watering can. It was beautifully decorated with a variety of flowers from a local baker. Addison and Braedon's smash cakes were made to look like a flower pot. Guests of all ages enjoyed treats such as "ants on a log," and chocolate dirt cones with gummy worms. Little party guests were treated with their very own flower in a pot and garden tools to take home.

Addison and Braedon's grandparents are Dudley and Lisa Stinson of Elba and Bob and Verne Goethe of Birmingham. Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Durrell Galimore, Edna Stinson and the late Earl Stinson of Elba, Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Weiner of Sarasota, Florida, and Marion Sulzer of Atlanta, Georgia.

CHURCH NEWS

PASTOR'S CORNER By Rev. Stanley Carter Elba United Methodist Church

Rules to live by.....

Bishop Reuben Job has written a little book, "Three Simple Rules-A Wesleyan Guide to Living," that has a big message. The book is based on a message that John Wesley gave so many years ago where he encouraged the "Methodists" to simplify their lives by keeping three simple rules. If the rules are kept, they will change and impact your life and Christian walk.

Here are the rules. Do no harm. Each day be intentional about not hurting others or yourself. Do Good. Everyday God blesses us with opportunities to do good in His name. All of us are gifted to serve God in some way. Stay in love with God. God desires a relationship with us. God wants to stay connected to us. How often do you pray, worship, read the Bible, and serve others?

There they are: Three simple rules. Keeping these rules is not a bad way to live. I would say it is the only way to live. I hope you will get a copy of this little book at your local Christian book store or from Cokesbury on-line.

budget for FY2009 for the sheriff's department and the proposed budget for the jail. As they moved through his list of projected costs for FY2009, a few adjustments were made. However, by the end of Monday's meeting, the sheriff's first budget request for FY2009 remained over $400,000 higher than the department's FY2008 budget.

At the conclusion of the talks, county administrator Kathy Lolley said her purpose for Monday's budget talks was to see what the sheriff had to say before she started working on the figures. Prior to adjourning, commissioners revisited the department's projected overage with the current budget. During the discussion, the county administrator said the budget will need to be amended at some point to cover the projected overage before the end of the fiscal year; however, she also made mention of a new law that says the county does not have to pay expenses created but not included in the budget.

Commissioner Linda Westbrook made a motion to pay the $8,070.30 owed to Williams Signs of Elba. She said this particular bill has been discussed at previous work sessions.

"I say we go ahead and get this out of the way," said Westbrook. The motion passed by a 5-0-1 vote. Commissioner Doug Dalrymple abstained from the vote. Commissioner Ernest Brooks was not in attendance for the afternoon session.
